WINNIPEG.

The Manitoba Legislature meets for the dispatch of business on Thursday, February 2nd.

Mayor Taylor has been elected chairman of the board of public commissioners.

Invitations are to be issued for the Bachelors' ball, to come off on the 10th of February, at the Manitoba hotel.

At a recent meeting of the city committee on legislation a resolution was passed, on a division, of four to two, proposing the substitution of a rental value tax, instead of the assessment of personal property.

Mr. Holt, Holloway insurance agent, Winnipeg, died on the 10th inst., rather suddenly at Quebec, whether he had gone for his health. Mr. Holloway was a well-known and popular figure in the city.

A shocking accident occurred recently in the freight yards of the C. P. R., Winnipeg. Jas. Livingstone, a switchman, who was coupling two freight cars, accidentally slipped and falling across the rails the wheels of the car passed over his abdomen which resulted in his death soon after.

It is rumored that the Winnipeg Electric Street Railway has come to terms with Mr. Austin, thereby terminating the pending appeal from the recent judicial decision given against him. This means the putting the ball at the foot of the Electric Co.

What might have resulted in a serious fire was observed on Tuesday last by a gentleman, in the new Baptist church, about 7 o'clock p.m., who gave the alarm to the brigade, who were soon on the spot and extinguished the flames with the chemical engine. The fire is thought to have originated from an overheated stove.

The annual ball of the Manitoba Club, on Thursday, gives promise of being ahead of the first one held by the management. The central committee, with Mr. F. W. Ashe as secretary-treasurer, are pushing matters forward, and are doing all that is possible to make it an affair worthy of the province. The tickets have been placed at $1 for gentlemen; $2 for ladies.

The promoters of the new Presbyterian church have organized a new church, the Western Presbyterian church. The following have been nominated for the office of elders and deacons and will be balloted for at a future meeting. For elders—Messrs. G. H. Campbell, Dr. Gray, E. Coltart, W. D. Russell, W. Palford, J. B. Mitchell, J. P. Tolomey, sr., Hyvson, R. H. Shanks, J. Taylor, F. F. Kerr, For deacons—Messrs. J. B. Mitchell, R. McMillan, D. Bruce, J. Brown, R. H. Shanks, W. Bryden, Mr. Laurie, J. McCall, R. Coltart, Hyvson, W. Mathieson, J. Taylor, D. Hope, W. Laing.

The four Presbyterian churches in the city are in a highly satisfactory condition, both financially and numerically. Nearly all of the reports show a balance on hand to begin the new year with. The combined membership of the several churches numbers about 3,200. The missions connected with the churches, show encouraging signs of vitality and progress. The working of the various organizations, the harmonious and the outlook of the future full of hope.

The visitors to the World's Fair at Chicago are to be made aware of the greatness of Manitoba by means of maps, which are to be prepared, showing various standpoint. The education department is offering prizes for the best maps drawn by pupils of any school in the province. They will have not only the effect of showing the physical outline of the country, but will also show to the world our present educational advantages and the progress of the province. It is a happy one, and should be of lasting benefit to us as well as serve as a stimulant to the pupils for the execution of neat and artistic work.

At the recent synod of Rupert's Land, held here, Mr. W. R. Macleod brought forward the effect that the "synod" hereby expresses its disapproval of lemon sodas, sunflower socials, dramatic performances, hockey matches, novelty parties, tableaux, marionettes, mickie in the slot, pantomime, comedies, plays, chestnut events, Mrs. Justice's waxworks, bazaars, and other expedients of this nature, either by way of entertainment in connection with the church or as a means of raising money, they hereby recording their belief that all meetings held in connection with the church should have God's glory as their aim; and that He who made this world and all things contained therein is able and willing to give for His praise and worship and the furtherance of His kingdom all that is required when He is asked for it in faith in the name of our Saviour Jesus Christ.

A city clergyman, who is noted for his eloquence as well as for the plainness of his speech, in a sermon recently while preaching to a large and fashionable audience, made reference to onions as a simile to illustrate a salient point in his discourse. A certain lady in the congregation, of somewhat refined feelings, soon after got up and left the church, and when asked by her friends why she did so, replied, "I could not sit and listen to such a vulgar simile, just as if a city clergyman being so oblivious of the finer feelings of his audience as to mix up onions with his sermon instead of with beefsteak. I'm awfully disgusted and horrified in fact." Every time this lady sees the rev. gentleman sing, then, she declares emphatically she gets such a strong smell of onions that she has to pass on the other side, fearing suffocation.

Mr. E. P. Leacock, who has been suffering from an attack of congestion of the lungs, is now, his many friends are glad to hear, convalescent, and is very anxious to get back to Estevan, in order to push forward the working of the coal mines there. Mr. Leacock, speaking recently of the merits of Estevan coal, said: "It is the coal I use in my own house, and I had not a plant frozen this year. The reason why some people complain of the coal is because they do not know how to burn it, the idea of most people being to get as strong a draught on it as possible, whereas it is a coal that should be allowed to germinate heat slowly. Once a good fire of Estevan coal is started all the dampers should be closed, and the coal will burn for hours. Mr. Leacock thinks the best stove to use for this coal is a common Globe or Syndicate or similar patent. He considers the ordinary cooking stove is not well suited to burn it in. He says that the fuel problem is solved, and that Estevan coal is going to be—the fuel of this country in the near future. It is reported that Messrs. Gurney, stove manufacturers, have taken the matter in hand, and are setting their brains to work, in order to be able to alter the cooking-stoves at present in use, to adapt them for burning Estevan coal. It may be remarked that this coal has been used for some time at the Jesuit College, St. Boniface, and all the fathers are perfectly satisfied with the way it has served the purposes of heating and cooking.

AUSTIN.

A fine residence is being erected by Mr. James Wellet.

$67.50 was the amount raised by the Ladies Aid of the Methodist church at a social.

Among the buildings to be erected shortly here, are a warehouse for Hon. W. Clifford, and a hall for the C. O. F.

ESTEVAN.

Business is booming along gaily here. George Stewart visited the town recently where he has a branch general store. He was so highly pleased with results and the prospects of the future that he intends building a large new store in the spring.

Trains are run regularly, on schedule time between here and Melita, notwithstanding the snow drifts.

Messrs. Price & McKay have sold their building, plant and stock in trade to Messrs. Lindsay and Patterson, who are reputed as shrewd business men—husbands. They have put in a large and varied assortment of stock.

107 NELSON ST., VIRDEN.

You're a nice man.
Mr. J. A. Elder spent Saturday in town.
Mr. Stevenson of Grinnell is visiting friends in town.
See Combs & Co's new advertisement in another column.

There was a good demand for fresh produce on Tuesday night, but the supply was light.

Mrs. Stevenson is spending a few days with her son, Rev. H. O. Stevenson, at the parsonage.

Messrs. Harvey Simpson and Tom Jones of Virden, started on a trip to California last Saturday, where they will remain till spring.

Mr. A. E. Aspinwall who came down from Elkhorn a few weeks ago with an operation, is improving and will soon be able to go around again. Brandon Times.

There will be no service by the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning, as the Rev. Mr. Palmer is out of town. That service in the church at Elkhorn, that morning. However, there will be the usual service in the evening at 7:30.

The motto in the Town Hall at St. Andrew's Society church on Wednesday evening (Feb. 1st) was: "We're a Jack of all trades, and then some. If in apology for the fact, a man is a man."

Mr. and Mrs. Pugh, Mr. and Mrs. J. Young, Messrs. W. J. Kennedy, J. A. Elder, Geo. Hall, H. E. Kay, J. W. Laidlaw, T. Kemper, R. Trautman, J. Gordon and Mrs. Archibald, of Virden, and Mrs. Boyd and Miss Search of Grinnell, spent Wednesday in town.

A social under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church, will be given in the hall on Wednesday evening, Feb. 1st. Tea will be served at six o'clock. After tea, a lecture is expected from the Rev. Dr. Robertson, of Mission, Manitoba, and the Northwest. A collection at the close of lecture. All are cordially invited to be present.

A private communication to one of the staff in the Advocate office, from Mr. Arthur Aspinwall, states that he has had to have his leg lanced for a second time, since being in the Brandon Hospital, which has considerably weakened him. He does not expect to be about again for some time to come, but reports very favorably of the kind care and treatment he is receiving from the authorities.

Mr. R. Elliott of Winnipeg was in town several days at the latter end of last week and beginning of this. While here he placed a fine advertising clock in the office of the Cavanagh Hotel. The work is very well finished, and the advertisement of most of the leading business men of the place show up very well. Mr. Elliott is travelling along the line of railroad, and will probably place clocks in most of the towns where the merchants are alive to their own interests.

There are three essentials in making sandwiches. Very nice light bread, home-baked ham, and a very sharp knife. The bread should be cut into paper slices and the ham into the thinnest shavings. After the crust is cut from the end of the loaf, spread the slices with nice fresh butter, and as you cut each slice of bread divide it in half, sprinkle one half with ham and the other half with place on it evenly the other half of the slice, buttered side down; press lightly together and lay on a plate. Continue until you have made all that you want. If the ham, bread, butter and knife are what they should be, you had better make a great many.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY CONCERT AND BALL.

The ENTERTAINMENT HELD LAST NIGHT PROVES TO BE THE EVENT OF THE SEASON—AN ALL NIGHT DANCE.

Owing to the severe weather experienced yesterday, the thermometer being at 28° below zero, and a bitter wind blowing, with the trails made heavy by the newly fallen snow, the hall was not as full for the St. Andrew's Society entertainment as it has been at the two past annual gatherings, though the programme was in every way superior to that of any former year. However, there was a good attendance, and an enthusiastic response to the untiring exertion of the committee of management, a most delighted company has never left the hall, which was gaily decorated for the occasion with mottoes, flags, festoons, etc. Where all performers are so good, it is unnecessary to point out any particular one, but we should like to mention more especially one or two who by their excellent rendering of the selections chosen, proved themselves to be artists of no mean account.

Mr. Young, who some will remember sang here several years ago at a concert, was well received. Her songs, including "Coming Through the Rye," as an encore, were given with much taste, and brought forth well deserved applause. Mr. and Mrs. Fitch in their instrumental duet, gained great favor with their heartiest. Mr. Fitch being a player on the piano seldom excelled; while the vocal performance of Mrs. Fitch in "The Nightingale," "Mazurka," and "Swing Song" were very pleasing.

Mr. Kay was in his usual good form, and his character song, "In the days when I was a girl," which was greeted with shrieks of laughter, was encored, and the good old "Mother Mine" was reproduced. But the event of the evening was the singing (beautifully accompanied by Miss Search, a pianist of much execution and great sweetness) of Mrs. Boyd of Grinnell. It is the first time an Elkhorn audience has been favored with this lady's performance, and we feel that we are only echoing the opinions of the rest of those present, when we express our wish that it may not be long before we are favored again. Her songs, including "When the heart is young," "The three wishes," "Two in Company" (encore) and each one received the enervation they deserved. The entertainment from first to last was a complete success, unrivalled by anything hitherto presented in the town, and those who faced the rough weather and bitter cold in order to be present, will not regret the trouble they took, when they consider the amount of really first class talent procured by the energetic committee.

THE DANCE.
After the hall had been cleared of all the benches, and chairs put upon the platform for spectators, the band supplied by the Elkhorn Bros., who performed their part of the programme with great credit, and started the strains of the first dance of the evening at half past eleven. From that time until daybreak, the fun was kept up fast and furious, and the following programme was gone through, with many "extra" dances thrown in.

FILING.
THE GATEWAY TOWN OF THE N. W. T.
A BIRD'S NEWS.

I walked around this blooming place. Of news I could not get a trace. A bird came flying past my head, And this is nearly all it said.

They should not run on that, Em Mack, For getting lost when down the track, He was not in the least to blame. And then, "he got there all the same."

They say that Johnson's horse is dead. Its heels were higher than its head. But what that means I cannot say, Unless the stable learned that way.

Ed and Ernest are quite sick. They eat their forty cakes to quick. Pancakes should be eaten slow. Or they cause you pain and woe.

Most all the settlers, bad and good, Go to the Pipes one for their wood. Locket goes as off as they, But never brings a stick away.

The reason is no truer plain, When he goes and comes again. He will drive a one horse shay, And only go on Sabbath day.

And that was all the bird would tell. Though I urged him, long and well, He said if I would not improve, The next week he would tell me more.

DEATH OF MRS. TROTTER.
The many friends will read with regret the death of Mrs. Fred Trotter, who died on the 10th inst. at her home, six miles south of Elkhorn. She was only 33 years of age, and everything that could be done by a loving husband and kind neighbors was done. The cause of death was rheumatism of heart. She leaves a kind husband and three young children, all whom at time of death were sick with scarlet fever. Those who witnessed her death bed will ever remember her dying testimony. Before passing away she sang several beautiful hymns. Then calling her husband and children one by one, she said goodbye, the fell asleep in Jesus. The sorrowing husband and children have the entire sympathy of the community.

[We hear that through some mistake, no papers arrived in Fleming last Friday. The bundle certainly left the office last Thursday, but where it went astray is unable to state. A second issue of the same issue was sent out to Fleming by Tuesday's train. Should there be any delay in future in the delivery of papers, subscribers are requested to communicate with the editor, who will do all he can to (and the reason of non-delivery, and get it rectified. Remember that the paper always leaves the office not later than Thursday afternoon.) Ed.

ADVERTISE IN THE ELKHORN ADVOCATE.

BEULAH BITS.

News for the last two weeks, there has been a great deal of news, but as the very much snowed under, but at last we hear that the settlement is about to blossom forth into new life, and there will be a grand concert at Minotia on Thursday next when a large turnout is expected.

Mrs. Jarler's wax works visit Arrow River on Friday next, and then on to Hamilton. We understand that the kind old lady intends to devote the proceeds towards the fund for building the new English Church at Hamilton.

Wood hauling seems to be the order of the day, and we are sorry to say that the very necessary commodity is getting scarce.

Mr. Byron's farm pupil, residing with Mr. W. Woodman of this place, was pretty badly hurt on Friday the 29th, through being kicked by an ox. He was much shocked for some time, but through the medical skill of Dr. Wheeler, he was brought round and is now rapidly progressing towards recovery.

Mr. W. Clyde of this place, has started on a tour to Virden and Brandon where he intends visiting friends.

There is a petition being got up which is signed by all the prominent members of this community and addressed to the Minister of Railways, to have the N. W. C. extended to British in this country.

Some of our farmers have lost some very valuable cows.

We intend to bring you down a berry of Beulah berries for the St. Andrew's garage, but Elkhorn boys please don't lose your hearts as we mean to bring them all back again.

It is for this week.

DE CLARE.

We hear that Miss May McConnell, who went to Brandon last fall to attend school, is doing well, having been promoted into the Collegiate grade.

Mrs. J. A. Montgomery and children of Fleming are visiting friends in the neighborhood.

We had some fine weather lately, but Jack Frost has put in his appearance again.

We hear that one of the readers of the ADVOCATE is making complaints of having his name in a kifsing scrape.

MONTGOMERY DISTRICT.

We have, this week, to record the death of Mr. Serrano, of Ross District, who died on Wednesday of last week. The deceased settled along with his son, in Ross District a number of years ago, and was owner of a quarter section of land home-steaded by himself. He leaves a large family of children and grand-children, many of whom have settled in the district. He was probably the oldest settler in that part of the country, being in his eighty-seventh year, and was much respected by all who knew him. Up to the day before his death he was in very good health for a person of his years. The remains were interred Friday, in the Arrow River Cemetery.

Miss Maggie Goettler, eldest daughter of Mr. Anthony Goettler, of Jorda District, left this week for Brandon, where she purposes attending convent.

Owing to the illness of Rev. Mr. Dyke, the services were conducted on Sunday by the Rev. Mr. Powell of Pipestone. Rev. Mr. Bailey from Ontario, is expected to take the place of Mr. Dyke until the latter gentleman is able to resume his duties. We understand he is getting on as well as could be expected.

ELKHORN ADVOCATE.

THURSDAY, JAN. 26, 1893.

It seems pretty well settled that Chas. McIntosh will, in time, be the next Governor of the Territories, but in the meantime it is hinted that Lieut. Governor Royal will continue in office for two years.

The Winnipeg Board of Trade has taken in hand some important matters which they hope to have regulated. One is that of securing a reduction in freight rates on grain leaving this country, it being shown that the present tariff bears very heavily on the farmer, through the dealers having to pay so much for carriage. It is hoped that, through the efforts of a strong deputation which waited upon Sup't. Whyte, the C.P.R. will see the advisability of reduction. The other question which the Board is grappling with is that of chattel mortgages held by implement dealers on the property of farmers. It has been shown that hardships have been occasioned through the manner in which mortgages have been enforced. It has been suggested that the local Government be memorialized to take away from farmers the power of mortgaging their growing crop. A committee of the Board has the matter in hand and will report.

What a stroke of luck it would have been if Jay Gould had been a resident of the Province of Manitoba instead of the State of New York. As a result of Gould's death, the revenue of the State of New York will be increased by about a million dollars. How the eyes of our statesmen would sparkle if somebody would die and leave an estate which would yield a million dollars in succession duties. The New York windfall will be more than sufficient to pay off the entire debt of the state. But there is no such luck for Manitoba. Nobody in Canada is worth a hundred million or half a hundred million.

In China, when a bank fails they behead the cashier. At Redwood Falls, Minn., the other day, a bank failed, and the creditors tried to dynamite the cashier and the president into the bargain, though both were confined in jail. China isn't 4,000 years ahead of Redwood in the matter of dealing with criminals, whatever she may claim with regard to the rest of the country.

Mr. James J. Corbett tells the theatrical reporter that he is "trying hard to be a gentleman and a pugilist at the same time." Mr. Corbett would better concentrate his efforts upon pugilism, in which he has decided success.

To dock or not to dock seems to be the question. The practice of abbreviating the tails of horses is becoming altogether too common. Nature is wise, but man fancies himself frequently much wiser than nature. Nature has decreed that the male human animal shall have his tail full and adorned. The good old patriarchs loved their beards that were pendant to their waists, and no greater indignity could be offered them than to have their beards plucked or curtailed, and when David sent his embassy from Jerusalem to one of the surrounding tribes, and his ambassadors were treated malignantly, no greater indignity could be shown them than the invasion of their beard. Secular beards are now broken into various forms. Some men fancy that while nature was entirely right in putting a beard upon their cheeks, it was wrong in putting it upon the chin while the cheeks are covered. Apparently there is no more reason why a man should shave his face than that a woman should shave her head, and these matters are all regulated by the vanity or frivolity of the human family.

Preparations for the World's Fair are rushing along at a terrific pace. The eyes of all civilized nations are looking forward with an eagerness unparalleled in many respects to any similar event in the present century. The circumstances that called the Fair into existence, the place selected for holding the exposition, the extent and scope of the exhibits, as well as the ready and almost universal response of all nations to co-operate in vying with one another, have given it a charm and attractiveness that must, to a great extent, ensure unequalled success. Smaller communities are also making laudable efforts to bring under the notice of the outside world the nature and value of their products, and the most intrinsic worth of the latent resources of their respective localities. We are glad our Prairie Province is alive to her interests in this respect, and that she is going to be well to the front and ably represented. The appointment of the Hon. J. A. Smart, as Commissioner for Manitoba, apart from all party considerations, is admitted, alike by political friend and foe, to have been a happy and a wise choice. His rare executive ability, and his knack for mastery of detail is spoken highly of by all sections of the community, as well as his extensive experience and acquaintance with the entire province, and the vast field of information at his disposal, is regarded generally to augur the realization of the object of Manitoba's exhibit, at the exposition, and which, we trust, shall result in permanent benefit to the province and credit to all Manitobans, irrespective of class, creed or party.

Rutherford B. Hayes died on Tuesday. He was the only living ex-president of the United States except Cleveland. He was aged 71.

A movement is on foot which has in view the uniting into one body the important sections of the Christian church in Canada, which may be looked upon as one of the significant signs of our times, as tending to show that a great many of the old barriers—trifles in many instances—are giving way before the more genial spirit of enlightened toleration of the latter end of the nineteenth century. Overtures have been recently made by Congregational pastors to the Presbytery assembled at Toronto. They were acting, of course, individually, and nothing was done that might commit either party definitely, but they were graciously received by the Presbytery, and much has been done to clear the way to future negotiations. The Rev. Principal Caven spoke in favor of the union, and in argument terms highly approved of a conference being held, with the object of more fully discussing the question, and before the Presbytery broke up a motion was carried agreeing to a conference at a time and place most convenient. That there has been a growing approximation of the two churches in ecclesiastical and doctrinal matters is generally well known, but still it was thought there were points sufficiently divergent to keep them distinct from the other. This appears now not to be the case, and it is believed that amalgamation will be a source of great strength and prosperity to that portion of the community which they at present separately represent.

Few names have been more prominently before the American people during the last generation than that of the veteran lawyer, soldier and public man, who died in Washington last week. His death closed the career of a remarkable character—a career varied, often stormy and marked by many achievements—a character sturdy, forceful, independent and indifferent to the conventionalities of the time. Living, General Butler had earned friends and strong foes; dead, he will have both eulogists and critics. In public affairs he was a bold aggressive fighter. Perhaps no man of his time was more abused. Whatever may be the popular verdict as to his public services, and his place in history is secure, if not his power to force to the front, his ambition and ability to win success, must be generally conceded. He will be remembered as a remarkable American.

There are 165 Confederate generals of all grades left; twenty-nine died last year. The mortality among the generals of the Confederate army was great, but, as in all such cases, it was not quite in the proportion of that of the soldiers, with whom, fame consists in being shot to death and in having their names misspelled in the newspapers.

Beligion in the Kitchen.

A good deal is said nowadays about religion in politics, in the workshop, in the store, and "on the road." Dr. Talmage speaks out, in the Christian Herald, concerning religion in the kitchen. It is thought that her views of the Dominion and especially the grandeur of the Holy Sacrament will be embodied in a work which is in course of preparation for the press.

The Newfoundland lobster men got judgment against Sir Baldwin Walker, an English naval officer, for alleged destruction of their property, while the Queen has been ordered to order the destruction of the lobster fishery, and the protection of the Newfoundland fisheries.

John R. Arnold, chief mechanical engineer, was tried some time ago in connection with the alleged explosion of the Dominion Public Works Department at Ottawa, on the charge of malfeasance and found guilty, but the judge reserved sentence until the Superior courts would decide whether or not the defendant was a house and a steam launch to the government in another person's name constituted malfeasance. The Superior court has given judgment that it did. Sentence will now be passed. The penalty is fine or imprisonment or both combined.

THE CRIMINAL RECORD.

The suspects arrested in connection with the Homestead poisoning case have been released.

James McManis has been arrested in Seattle, charged with complicity in the recent robbery of the express company in that town.

A number of arrests have been made in connection with the alleged explosion of the Pueblo, Mexico. The amount involved is $300,000.

The prison population of New York state has increased over 25 per cent. during the past 10 years, while the increase in population was only 18 per cent.

A Romantic Letter.

A cautious "dad" is said to have recently intercepted a highly interesting epistle having got a hint previously of the mutually concerted arrangement, and thereby prevented what is believed would have been a romantic elopement. Others look upon the affair as the work of some "wag" who used his ingenuity to frighten the old man. Here is an extract from the letter:

My darling pet—I shall meet you as arranged at— with a sleigh team. Be sure, darling, and be in good time, as the train leaves about 6 o'clock. Take what warm muffling you can easily carry, but don't trouble about anything else, except the cash, (I hope you have got your hands on a good sum) we can get anything you may require when we arrive at our destination. Don't show any symptoms of departure, or it might prevent us getting away and ruin both our prospects for life. Till then, as ever, Your own loving

At Eschschek, in the province of Wilna, Russia, the boiler of the Pundlich bath exploded. Six persons were instantly killed and fifteen seriously injured.

The Pennsylvania and the Vandalia railroads have declared war on union labor. All employees who refuse to leave the different brotherhoods will be discharged.

Mr. Harrison, the member for North Carolina, has seceded from the Gladstonian ranks and joined the Independent Liberal. He cannot support the Home Rule Bill.

Three business establishments have been burned in Dutton, Ont. Loss, $10,000. Partially insured.

Miss Minnie Martin, of Omaha, recently married an escaped lunatic. He was subsequently taken to the asylum.

Milkmen and bakers have to go about Cincinnati, Ohio, armed, when out with wagons. Several have been held up and robbed.

Wheat reached 87 cents per bushel recently at Chicago market, and it is thought it will before long reach a dollar per bushel.

Mr. Scatoli, the apostolic legation, is permanently established in the United States by his holiness the pope as his representative at Washington.

A most daring attack was recently made by ten brigands, at Pichal station in Guatemala, Mexico, who succeeded in carrying off $20,000 in silver.

The post office held several other important business houses were burned at Brewster, N. Y., amounting to the sum of $100,000. Insurance $75,000.

The St. Marc, a French steamer, ran down an Italian barque off Villa Franca, carrying a heavy diet storm. The entire crew of thirteen went down with the bark.

Bankers and insurance men have subscribed $4,000 for the relief of the poor of Cincinnati, Ohio, which have been rendered destitute, owing to the recent storm.

Applicants to the number of 1,500 in Quebec city, as compared with 2,000 for the whole of the year, show the distress actually prevailing among the laboring classes there.

Edward Lewis, book keeper in the Des Moines Packing Company, La., is reported to have skipped out with $50,000 of the company's money, and is now on the step father's money.

Archbishop Corrigan says, speaking of the appointment of Mgr. Scatoli, "we receive this as all other decisions emanating from the Pope with the profound reverence, respect and obedience."

The Pennsylvania coal combine has fallen to pieces by one of the companies dropping out, on the ground that it did not get its full share of the business. This combine is the largest of coal to go up last year $1.50 per ton.

A syndicate is reported to have secured the principal coal mines in Nova Scotia. There is to be $17,000,000 expended on the works, and the mines are to be worked on the most improved plans by electrical machinery.

The horses drawing the hearse in the funeral cortege of Hugh Kidd, of Jilderose, Ont., recently became unmanageable, and ran away, wrecking the hearse, and throwing the coffin to the ground with such violence that the lid came off, and the body rolled out.

Miss Lee, of London, England, a lady of well-known literary ability, is making a tour of Canada, taking in particular the Dominion of the Rockies. It is thought that her views of the Dominion and especially the grandeur of the Holy Sacrament will be embodied in a work which is in course of preparation for the press.

For nights ago a gang of masked men broke into the house of a widow named Mrs. Skillings, who lives with her two daughters a short distance west of Plattsville, Ont. They broke the furniture, smashed the windows and ill-used the old lady considerably. Two of the suspects named Wright and Close have been committed for trial.

E.C. Allen fatally shot his wife and shot and killed her Van Tassie, a servant at Rice Lake, Wis. He alleges that the two were criminally intimate.

THE MUTUAL LIFE.

Items of Interest Regarding the Greatest Monetary Institution of the World.

The Mutual Life's cash dividends and bonus additions to its policies for excessed those of any other company in the world, while its assets exceed over twenty-four millions of dollars those of the next largest company, and one hundred and twenty millions of dollars more than the assets of all the Canadian life insurance companies. Then why pay your money for unproductive insurance, or still worse, for policies or certificates in weak companies or assessment societies that you will probably outlive when you can secure a profitable life insurance provision for your family and for yourself, from a company as to the safety or certainty of the investment made for their benefit, by insuring your life in the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, the oldest life insurance company in America, and the largest and best in the world.

Persons intending to insure, and those already insured, would do well to consider the advantages offered by the Mutual Life before insuring or renewing their present policies with other companies for it does make a difference where we insure.

Intending insurers are cordially invited to call at the Company's office, 1414 St. John, corner Market Street and Pender Avenue, Winnipeg, to obtain a policy of LIFE INSURANCE that insures in a company too large and powerful to be squeezed out of existence.

Agents wanted at all places where the company is not represented.
